On March 24 a capacity crowd enthusiastically received the 1960 senior class play, George Kaufman and Moss Hart's Pulitzer prize winning comedy entitled "You Can't Take It With You."

The curtain rose to reveal the unusual living room of the Vanderhof household. Al Grant portrayed Grandpa Vanderhof, the philosophizing head of the household who had suddenly left a thriving business many years before because he felt he'd have more fun at home collecting snakes. Other members of the household included Cathy Collins as Penny Sycamore, a flighty would-be-playright; Dick North as Paul Sycamore, whose experiments in the firecracker business often exploded and rocked the entire house; Helge Tolleshaug as Mr. De Pinna, who came to the house to deliver ice eight years previously and had been there ever since helping to make fireworks; Janice Judson as Essie Carmichael, an aspiring ballet dancer who also operated a flourishing candy business; Joe Hupfer as Ed Carmichael, who delivered Essie's candy whenever she was able to tear him away from the printing press, his pride and joy; Renee Louis as Rheba, the negro maid who dished up both food and hilarious comments; David Osgood as Donald, Rheba's boy friend who helped out occasionally as the butler and managed to confuse everybody; and, finally, Sharon Hanson as Alice Sycamore, the sweet and completely normal granddaughter. The Vanderhof's ever confusing family life was made even more involved when Tom Hitzler as Henderson, a representative of the International Revenue Department, was mistaken for Alice's new boy friend, who later turned up and turned out to be Tony Kirby, the son of an influential Wall Street executive, played by Steve Elliott. This budding romance seemed doomed when Tony's extremely proper parents, played by Rob Shirey and Barbara Rogge, arrived on the wrong night to find Essie in the middle of a ballet lesson by her voluble Russian instructor, Mr. Kolenkov, played by Scott Rodman, and the house in an uproar which ended only with a raid by three F.B.I. men, Gary Loucks, Carl Roehrdanz, and Ed Russell, who expelled Gay Wellington, an inebriated actress played by Sandy Giese, from the upstairs bedroom. All ended happily, however, with a family gathering attended by everyone including the pacified Kirbys and an extraordinary guest, the Grand Duchess Olga Katrina played by Jean Goldberg.

The play, which was considered a huge success, was well worth the many hours of practice and the hard work put into it. However, the production could not have been possible without the help of the stage crews. Our thanks are extended first of all to Mr. James Schroom, who so enthusiastically and willingly directed the play to its success. He was ably helped by the assistant directors, Pat Malson and Mr. Donald Lubitz, a practice teacher. In charge of properties were Lois Piotter, chairman, and Bill Haase, Marge Hall, Carl Roehrdanz, Paula Wright, and Carol Kleineshay. Others on the production staff included: prompter, Pat Merk; make-up, Jean Summers, chairman, and Janet Beusch, Jean Breitung, Sherry Bruns, Sandy Firlle, Barbara Green, Bette Haberkorn, Marilyn Kaiser, Sue Kintzler, Jeannine Marvin, Colleen Murphy, Dorothy Newell, Margie Puddy, Sandy Rondall, Marlene Schmidt, Janice Schoepke, and June Thorson; sound effects, Carl Roehrdanz, Tom Hitzler, and Mr. Lubitz; lighting, Louise Whelan; set design, Jeanette Ackerer and Barbara Bunker; stage crew, Lonnie Rauls, stage manager, and Tom Cutler, Dick Daleiden, Tom Titzler, and Gary Loucks; publicity, Pat Buslaff; business manager, Peter Gilles; faculty advisor, Miss Stepnoski; and ushers, Doris Condel, Jean Deanovich, Bob Edgerton, Carol Haag, Carole Hansen, Janet Kirchoff, Karl Koehler, Pat McLain, Shirley Rateike, Dave Schwark, Fritz Schultz, and David Tank.

The senior class play of 1960 will long be remembered by the cast as "a thrilling experience," by the stage crews as "well worth the hard work", and by the audience as "a professional job, well done."

The 1959 football season opened on a highly optimistic note with eight veterans returning from last year's thrilling team which finished second in the Fox River Conference. The performance exhibited in the first several games, however, gave every appearance that the Cards were headed in the wrong direction. At this point Coach Capicik reshuffled the line-up, worked the squad harder than ever, and instilled a determination that transformed them into a rugged, highly respected organization.

The revitalized Cards, in their next encounter, our Homecoming, soundly walloped Sheboygan North, but then lost a heart-breaker to a highly-favored Manitowoc eleven which was clearly outplayed. The following contest was played in a downpour that not only allowed a scrappy East Green Bay team to beat us but also saw our top-rated passing attack washed down the drain.

Against Appleton our Cards all but tore the Terriors apart for three quarters only to have several bad breaks result in two cheap touchdowns and turn the tables on us 13-7. Against our arch-rival, Oshkosh, however, Coach Capicik's stalwarts were not to be denied; they came through in great style by earning a well deserved 10-7 final season victory over a rugged Indian team.

With this year's squad composed mostly of underclassmen it is quite likely that Coach Capicik will field an aggregation in the autumn of '60 with the experience, speed, and desire to give us a winner. Some promising sophomores coming up from the Jayvee team will fill in the gaps and provide good, strong reserve strength.

Jerry Pollei

Two members of the team were selected for special honors. The Valley sports' writers named Jim Flaherty, a junior, and Mike Murphy, a senior, to the All-Conference team. In addition Mike Murphy was honored by the state scribes by being placed on the All-State honorable mention list. Mike was also honored by his teammates who selected him as "most valuable", and as co-captain along with Nick Micklos.

Although Coach Gerald Pollei's Jayvees had a disastrous win-loss record, they often came up with some sound, tough football. Several of the boys will be welcome additions to the varsity squad come next fall.

Basketball

CARL SMEDBERG

"COACH OF THE YEAR" title was bestowed upon Smedberg by his Conference fellow coaches for the splendid job he did in developing a young, inexperienced squad. Fellow coaches were quick to recognize the superb coaching of the Cardinal mentor plus the spirit and exemplary conduct displayed by his proteges.

Coach Carl "Swede" Smedberg's resignation at the end of the season was a disappointment to his many friends, fellow workers, and players who trained under him.

Basketball Honors During '59-'60 Season

Wilderman Brown Murphy Tadman
Nussbaum Esther Hochrein

The fact that so many of our hoopsters won special honors was clearly an indication of their fine teamwork and unselfish attitude. Al Esther was awarded an All-Conference position and Bob Hochrein was chosen to the second mythical five. In addition, Jon Brown, Jack Nussbaum, Bob Tadman, Mike Murphy, and Ken Wilderman were named to the honorable mention list.

Basketball

With the loss of such fine performers as Bestor, King, Damm, and Rose from the '58-'59 squad, Coach Smedberg was resigned to a rebuilding year. Even the dopesters, in their pre-season ratings, had the Cards pegged as the "weak sister" of the Conference. However, our boys had other ideas.

After losing the first three of four games the Cards jelled into a smooth working aggregation. In the next four contests they leveled off the three top-rated clubs of the Conference, Oshkosh, Appleton, and Sheboygan Central, respectively, with Green Bay East included for good measure. Then, in the second round, they assured themselves of a successful season by administering the double "whammy" to Oshkosh in an exciting 60-55 game on the opponent's floor. From that point they were contenders for the title right down to the wire.

Coach Smedberg employed a clever possession-type ball interspaced with a running game which kept the fans on the edge of their seats. The defensive press was no obstacle to our fighting five, but even more noteworthy was the balanced attack, teamwork, and a hunger for victory.

Al Esther, a transfer from Green Bay West, was an All-Conference selection while Bob Hochrein was named to the second team. Jon Brown, Jack Nussbaum, Bob Tadman, Mike Murphy, and Ken Wilderman all received honorable mention. In a vote of teammates, Bob Hochrein was chosen team honorary captain, and Jon Brown was awarded the distinction of most valuable player. Additional lettermen were Roger Freiberg, Bud Aspatore, and Chuck Brunau. Clark Palmer and Steve Eckles were granted letters for their excellent job as team managers. The loss of Hochrein, Murphy, Tadman, Freiberg, and Christ by graduation will be keenly felt.

Coach Lautenschlager, who will assume head coaching duties in '60-'61, completed a highly successful year with a battling Jayvee squad. With a Conference record of 10-4, this gang of warriors missed first place by the margin of one game. This fine array of spirited boys will surely give next year's varsity a boost.

Best of luck in the future Ray

After enjoying a most successful '59 season during which his charges won two triangulars, three duals, and seconds in both the Fox Valley Conference and the Valley Relays, Coach Del Stacy appeared skeptical about the new campaign. Could it be because heavy point-getter Darrell McArthur plus several other reliables had moved on? Nevertheless, seventy-five likely looking prospects, including nineteen lettermen, were on deck for opening drills.

Senior lettermen were Dan Meiss and Pat Brunet, half-milers; Lon Rauls, high jump and high hurdles; Mike Murphy and Tom Cutler, weights; Gary Loucks and Caesar Cibik, pole vault; and Frank Mesner, mile.

Junior lettermen reporting were Larry Mueller, pole vault; Tom Stevens, high hurdles; Jim Gilmore, 440 and relays; Dick Bender, weights.

The two sophomore lettermen returning were Rick Gilmore, who specializes in the 440 and relays, and the versatile speedster and broad jumper, Jim Lee, who recently underwent a serious knee operation and wasn't expected to compete this spring. However, Jim has made an amazing recovery and can be counted on to pile up points in the 100, 220, and broad jump.

Because illness and jobs drastically cut into the overall strength of the Cards, they got off to a poor start against West Bend, losing 56-52. In the second outing, however, the Stacymen took the measure of the strong Appleton and Neenah squads in a triangular. Outstanding were Jim Lee with three firsts; Frank Messner, a winner in the mile; and both Dick Bender and Mike Murphy in the weights. In their third encounter, another triangular against Berlin and Ripon, our Cards were way out front when the rains came, forcing a cancellation. On May 3, the squad, performing below standard, bowed to Sheboygan North in a hairsplitter. Firsts were won by Mike Murphy, Pat Brunet, Jim Gilmore, Lon Rauls, Caesar Cibik, Jim Lee, and by the sprint medley team consisting of Rick Gilmore, Jay Johnson, Paul Frank, and Dave Miess.

In the Fox Valley Conference Meet on May 15, our sprint medley team put on a thrilling record-breaking performance. The best the team could do, however, was sixth. A dual with Oshkosh, the State Qualifying Meet, and the Valley Relays are still on the docket. Coach Stacy and assistant Coach Harold Knueppel are still expecting big things from their chargers.

With only five lettermen returning from a crack '59 squad, Coach Fritz Lautenschlager was faced with a tremendous task of whipping together a winning combination. In all, fifty-nine enthusiastic aspirants reported to Coach Lautenschlager and Assistant Coach Woody Bilse.

The championship '59 club compiled a neat 10-2 record in regular season play, and then won eight successive WIAA tournament games only to lose out to Oconomowoc, 3-2, in the State Finals. Lost from that superb nine are such stars as Bob Felda, Dick Bestor, Tim Hurst, and pitcher extraordinary, Hub King, who posted a spectacular 33-2 over-all record in high school and American Legion competition including several no-hitters.

Cold, rainy weather has not only hindered the conditioning of the '60 squad but has already caused several postponements. However, in games to-date, our Cards have split in a home and home series with Menasha St. Mary's, 7-12 and 7-5, gained a split in a doubleheader against Oshkosh, 7-2 and 2-3, and dropped a doubleheader to Manitowoc by the identical scores of 3-1.

Although Dave Schwark has been meeting the ball consistently, boosting a near 500 average, the ability to hit with regularity has been the real bugaboo of the Card nine. Pitching, with Karl Schmidt and Jim Kalk shouldering most of the burden, has been improving with each game. Completing the mound staff are Dan Buss and Bill Eiring. Doing the greater share of the backstopping has been Randy Hop-ton, Bob Bestor, and Ron Bradic. Infield chores has been in the hands of Larry Wetzel, Tom Soukup, Chuck Brunau, and Dick Wirtz, and rounding out the outfield are Dave Schwark, Jim Schmidt and Bob Hochrein. The utility problem gives Coach Lautenschlager no worry as Jim Machsam and Tony Meade are everready for the infield or outfield respectively.

With continued good pitching plus some improvement at the plate, the Cards can still turn the '60 regular season into a winner. Also, with the WIAA tournament opening on May 16 against Kewaskum at Fairgrounds Park, our Fondy nine could cut a real swath in the festivities—perhaps win the final one this year.

E. BILSE

TENNIS

C. MERRIMAN

Coach C. H. Merriman, after a one year respite from all tennis warfare, was anxious to get his candidates in condition for a tough schedule. In this group were three lettermen, all juniors, consisting of Jon Brown, Bud Aspatore, and last year's number one man, Ken Wilderman. The composition of the rest of the squad included eleven juniors, three seniors, seven sophomores, and three freshmen up from Roosevelt.

The 1959 squad, under Coach Woody Bilse, was eager but seriously handicapped by inexperience. The best they could garner in the strong Valley Conference was a fifth. This spring, however, with a trio of tried campaigners, Coach Merriman is in hopes of improving that record.

The schedule calls for eleven dual meets prior to the Conference meet on May 21 at Appleton. Seven of the scheduled eleven dual meets, including West Bend, Waupun, Manitowoc, Oshkosh, Sheboygan Central, Sheboygan North, and Neenah are slated for the home courts. Away, we will tangle with Menasha, Appleton, Oshkosh, and Sheboygan Central.

At this writing, four matches have been played, resulting in wins over West Bend, 4-3, Waupun, 7-0, Sheboygan Central, 6-1, and a loss to Manitowoc, 6-1.

Ablly assisting the veterans were Al Esther and Doug Melius. Also Ken Pagel, Dave Meyer, Roy Andrews, Jim Schenk, Dan Scherk, Steve Eckles and Jim Wachs may still be heard from.

Following the May 21 Conference Meet will be the state qualifying Sectionals. Then comes the State — let's see you there, boys!

GOLF

With only one match having been played to date (a 229 to 220 loss to perennially good Oshkosh) in this unusually cool and wet spring, Coach Joe Capicik is considerably concerned about getting his clubbers in form for the busy abbreviated season ahead. All in all, prospects appear to be exceptionally bright, as three lettermen are back from a quintet which missed going to the State by one stroke last year. In addition they finished third in the Conference Meet, walked off with four dual meets, took second in a quadrangular, and then barely missed going to the State in a field of ten teams at Hartford.

Bolstering the lettermen, consisting of senior Bob Edgerton, junior Mike Manis, and sophomore Chuck Blærdorn, are last year's squad members, Ray Christ, Mike McFerren, and Bill Jaber along with newcomers, Steve McConahey, Dave Rock, Jack Anderson, Bob Braun, Bruce Petri, and Tom Furner. Hard to replace from last year's squad are Jack Wagner and Tom Bucher.

Weather permitting, the Cards will try to cram in a schedule of six dual meets and four quadrangulars before the Conference Meet at Appleton on May 21. Two contests against Elkhart Lake, one against Waupun, and two with West Bend will supplement the Fox Valley scheduled games. On May 28 our stokers will be off to the Sectional where they will have an opportunity to qualify for the State which is to be held on June 1 and 2; and then — well, who knows?

J. CAPICIK
